

HOW SURREAL!

The Surrealist artist Salvador Dalí was once feasting on lobsters with his friends. While they were eating they tossed the empty shells over their heads. One shell landed on the telephone! Salvador loved what he saw and later made a sculpture of a real telephone with a red lobster made of plaster sitting on top. You can see art works by Salvador Dalí at ngv.melbourne/collection.

You will need:

- * Pencil
- * Piece of paper
- * Dice
- * Your imagination!

Can you take two ordinary things and turn them into something surreal or strange?

Roll the die two times and see what combination you make. Then make up your own game.
